

ABSTRACT

A signal analyzer to characterize the RF signal transmitted by a frequency hopping radio transmitter. The transmitted signal is analyzed while hopping across a broad frequency band without knowledge of the hop frequencies, timing or signal bandwidth. A wide range of signal parameters are measured on the dehopped signal to characterize the radio performance and the compliance to the radio specifications.